

Presidential Candidates

During a Presidential election year, candidates are elected to represent each political party.

The two main political parties in the United States democracy are the Democratic party and the Republican party.

Running as the Democratic party's Presidential Candidate this year is Joe Biden.

The Republican party's Presidential Candidate is Donald Trump.

Donald Trump was elected President of the United States in 2016. This year, he is up for re-election. Presidents can serve up to 2 terms in the Presidency, or 8 years.

Joe Biden was the United States Vice President under President Barack Obama from 2008-2016.

Joe Biden is now running for President of the United States.

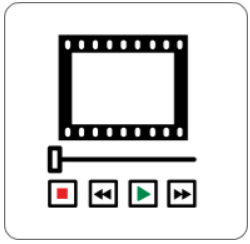

Each of these candidates will participate in a campaign to speak to Americans about issues and their goals they'd like to work on if they are elected President of the United States.

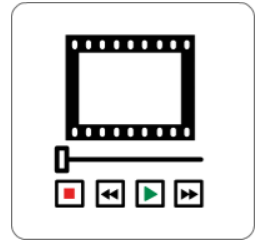

In November 2020, the American people will participate in a Presidential election.

At that time, Donald Trump or Joe Biden will be elected the President of the United States.
